 (51) Int.Cl.8: C 07C 311/48
 (57): The present invention relates to a novel class of sulfonamides which are aspartyl protease inhibitors. In one embodiment, this invention relates to a novel class of HIV aspartyl protease inhibitors characterized by specific structural and physicochemical features. This invention also relates to pharmaceutical compositions comprising these compounds. The compounds and pharmaceutical compositions of this invention are particularly well suited for inhibiting HIV-1 and HIV-2 protease activity and consequently, may be advantageously used as anti-viral agents against the HIV-1 and HIV-2 viruses. This invention also relates to methods for inhibiting the activity of HIV aspartyl protease using the compounds of this invention and methods for screening compounds for anti-HIV activity.

(54): MULTIPLE TARGET TEST USEFUL FOR PRE-DONATION SCREENING OF BLOOD

(51) Int.Cl.8: G 01N 33/558

(57): Tests for establishing whether any of a plurality of different targets are present in a sample solution are described. If one or more of the targets are detected a positive result is obtained, but the different targets are not differentiated by the test, so there is no indication which targets have been detected. Such tests are useful for pre-donation screening of blood at public blood donation sessions to test whether the blood is safe for transfusion. The tests allow infected blood to be identified, but preserve the confidentiality of the reason for refusal of infected blood. This avoids the distress caused by public diagnosis of infection by diseases with which there is a social stigma attached, such as HIV. The tests are particularly suited for use in developing countries to screen for HIV, HBV, and HCV infection. Dipsticks and kits for performing the tests are also described.

(51) Int.Cl.8: G 01V 7/00

(57): An apparatus for the measurement of quasi-static gravity gradients, comprising: a flexible string (1); and output means for producing an output which is a function of said gravity gradients; and wherein the string is fixed (2, 2') at both ends; and wherein the apparatus comprises sensing means (L1, L2) for detecting the transverse displacements of said string from its undisturbed reference position due to a gravity gradient around said string; and the output means are responsive to the detected displacement to produce said output which is a function of the gravity gradient; the apparatus further comprising means (30) mounted at a position corresponding to the mid-point between the fixed ends of the string and constructed to prevent movements of said string which correspond to all its odd modes (starting from C-mode) whilst not affecting at least the movement of said string which corresponds to its second fundamental mode (S-mode).

(54): ONE-USE RETRACTING SYRINGE WITH POSITIVE NEEDLE RETENTION

(51) Int.Cl.8: A 61M 5/32

(57): A retracting syringe (10) of one use has a plunger (38, 40) comprising a handle portion (38) and a needle retention portion (400) forward of the handle portion (38) which serves as the plunger (38, 40) and preferably also serves to trigger the retraction mechanism (20) when the handle (38) is moved forward beyond the forward end-of-injection position. The positive locking structure (66) in the syringe barrel (12) permits one withdrawal of the handle (38) in the rearward direction to fill the variable fluid chamber (56) and one movement in the forward direction to empty the variable fluid chamber (56) but thereafter limits the rearward movement of the needle retention chamber (40) and/or the handle (38) to ensure that the syringe (10) cannot be reused even if the user fails to trigger the retraction device 9200 to retract the needle (18).
