(57): The present invention is in the field of laundry processes and devices. In particular the invention relates to the saving of water. It is an object of the present invention to reduce the water consumption in conventional washing methods, especially machine washing methods. It is found that the continuous pH controlled sequential dosing of an electrolyte, followed by dosing of a polymer and a solid liquid separation step during a full wash cycle of a washing machine, provides continuous clarification of the wash liquor and enables the continuous reuse of the water during said wash cycle.

(51) Int.Cl.8: C 07C 1/04, C 10L 3/08

(57): The invention relates to a process for producing a methane-containing gas from synthesis gas, wherein a synthesis gas containing carbon monoxide and hydrogen is fed for methanation to a reactor system (1) having a catalyst material, wherein the process gas stream leaving the reactor system (1) is divided into a product gas stream and a recycle gas stream, and wherein the recycle gas stream, for compensation of the pressure drop, is transported through an ejector (5) and for cooling is passed together with the synthesis gas into the reactor system (1). According to the invention, the product gas stream is compressed to a pressure which is greater than the pressure of the synthesis gas that is fed to the reactor system (1). Either compressed product gas or industrial gas from an industrial gas pipe system (9) is fed as propellant medium to the ejector (5). The invention also relates to a methane production plant for carrying out the process.

(51) Int.Cl.8: G 06K 19/06, 9/18, 9/62, 9/78

(57): This invention proposes a content verification and authentication method inside a sealed box, which transits between point-of-packaging and point-of delivery through a logistics supply-chain on per-hop basis. This method is about tagging each item with a label containing internal layering of radio-opaque material randomly oriented. Externally all labels/tags look symmetrical and hence even if an insider replaces the original item and tags with genuine labels on fake item, still this gets detected as original reference imaging signature will have different orientation. Every-time these labels are reused they auto-acquire their imaging credential. This method also mitigates false alarm after ensuring that imaging has changed only due to horizontal movement of items inside the box and not because of orientation. Method has inherent capability to resolve count-deficiency due to pattern overlap. For accelerated direction-agnostic scanning in high volume logistics industry for box level authentication, two labels with covert pattern is highly useful. Labels with covert pattern is again based on orientation, which is not known by insiders and credential is acquired only at time of application of labels. This method can also be used as covert anti-counterfeiting mechanism by associating imaging of random covert patterns with overt feature of unique-alpha-numeric per-piece id.

(54) Title: AN ANTI-AGING COSMETIC PRODUCT DERIVED FROM PLANTS AND RUMINANT ANIMALS OIL EXTRACTS

(51) Int.Cl.8: A 61K 8/97, A 61Q 19/08

(57) Abstract: This invention relates to the cosmetic and toiletry field and pertains to the application of the formulated cosmetic products on the entire body and face to achieve a smooth, elastic skin, free from wrinkles, rashes, acne, and sunburn irritation. The invention involves the formulation of a cosmetic product by incorporating the active natural ingredients namely; fat extracts from camel and goat milk, oil extracts of coconut, amaranth and peanut seeds into a cosmetic product base (carrier). This carrier is formulated using; Stearic acid, Cetyl alcohol, Glycerol monostearate, White oil, deionized water, glycerin, TEA, fragrance, color, preservatives and extracts of peanut seeds coat, roots and stems. The composition of this invention entails the percentage weight of each active natural ingredients and the carrier based on the total weight of the composition incorporated together to formulate the cosmetic product.

(57): The present invention relates to a sustained-release formulation comprising a matastin derivative and a lactic polymer having a weight average molecular weight of about 5,000 to about 40,000 or a salt thereof. The sustained-release formulation of the present invention slowly and stably releases compound (I) or a salt thereof over a long period of time and exerts medicinal effects of compound (I) or a salt thereof over a long period of time. Furthermore, the sustained-release formulation of the present invention, which improves patient's convenience by reducing frequency of administration, is an excellent formulation as a clinical medicine.

(57) Abstract: This invention is directed to methods of treating inorganic surfaces with aqueous compositions including ionic organosilicon compounds. Surprisingly, it has been found that the application of water soluble ionic organosilicon compounds, which until the present invention have only been used in small quantities to solubilize silanes, to inorganic surfaces provides the treated surface with an excellent hydrophobic property. The present invention exclusively utilizes ionic organosilicon compounds as the main or sole component for imparting water repellency upon surface treatment of inorganic substrates. The methods of the present invention comprise the application of ionic organosilicon compounds to inorganic surfaces whereby imparting water resistance to the substrate. After application, a treated surface may be characterized as having a long term water repellent property.

(51) Int.Cl.8: A 01N 41/06

(57) Abstract: This invention concerns N-(2-arylamino) aryl sulfonamide compounds which are inhibitors of MEK including crystalline polymorphic forms which exhibit a specific powder x-ray diffraction profile and/or a specific differential scanning calorimetry profile. This invention also concerns pharmaceutical compositions comprising the compounds described herein and methods of use of the compounds and compositions described herein, including the use in the treatment and/or prevention of cancer, hyperproliferative diseases and inflammatory conditions. The invention also concerns methods of making the compounds and compositions described herein.

 (51) Int.Cl.8: C 09D 11/10

(57) Abstract: The present invention relates to printing inks for the intaglio printing process, also referred to as engraved steel die printing process. In particular, oxidatively curing inks comprising a combination of fusible wax and a UV curing binder component are disclosed. These inks can be printed on a standard printing press, and, through a short UV irradiation after printing, allow to significantly reduce or eliminate the undesired set-off which can occur after printing and stacking the printed sheets. Using the inks of the present invention results in less set-off contaminated printed sheets, allowing for a higher pile-stacking of the printed good, for the use of increased engraving depths, of a more challenging intaglio design, and for the printing on less porous substrates, whilst enabling the printing on a standard printing press, and offering the possibility of using a lower printing plate temperature.

The access device (steps, ladder, stairs) can have a multiplicity of treads (eg 10a,10b,10c.) interconnected in series by connectors (eg 12a, 13a, 14a...) pivotably mounted with respect to the treads, the connectors permitting the access device to contract and extend longitudinally and the treads to be closed together on retraction. The treads may nest together when retracted (3a-3d) and treads can be formed or fabricated in pairs, such that when retracted, a tread of one pair nests between the treads of another pair, and this can be effected for multiple tread pairs. The access device is particularly suited to grader vehicles with limited and awkward cab access and space for access system deployment, not least due to the grader blade arrangement.

The [e*mt*b – concept obviates the need for a cardholder to transmit card numbers along with other purchasing details at the time of purchase and couples the with the use of a password feature. This renders the transaction akin to a bank cash withdrawal that bank/card schemes are totally happy with from a security point of view but are reluctant to allow c-commerce and/or any others access to their "network" to ensure security.

(51) Int.Cl.:

(57) Abstract: The present invention describes the production of a diutan polysaccharide exhibiting increased viscosity properties as compared with previously produced polysaccharide of the same type of repeating units. Such an improved diutan polysaccharide is produced through the generation of a derivative of Sphingomonas sp. ATCC 53159 that harbors a multicopy broad-host-range plasmid into which genes for biosynthesis of diutan polysaccharide have been cloned. The plasmid provides the capability within the host Sphingomonas strain to produce multiple copies of genes for such polysaccharide synthesis. In such a manner, a method of not just increased production of the target diutan polysaccharide, but also production of a diutan polysaccharide of improved physical properties (of the aforementioned higher viscosity) thereof is provided. Such a diutan polysaccharide has proven particularly useful as a possible viscosifier in oilfield applications and within cement materials. The inventive methods of production of such an improved diutan polysaccharide, as well as the novel cloned genes required to produce the improved diutan within such a method are also encompassed within this invention. Additionally, the novel engineered Sphingomonas strain including the needed DNA sequence is encompassed within this invention.

2.0 Industrial Designs

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the Registration of any of the Industrial designs advertised herein may within sixty (60) days from the date of this Journal, lodge a notice of opposition on form IP 36 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Ksh.5, 000/= (local opponent) or US$ 250 (foreign opponent).

The period of lodging the notice of opposition may be extended by the Managing Director as he deems fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Managing Director to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after a reasonable notice has been given in writing to the applicant to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Representations and samples of the designs advertised herein can be seen at the Patent Registry, Kenya Industrial Property Institute, Weights and Measures premises, Popo Road, off Mombasa Road, Nairobi.

 (54) Title: A TORQUE CONTROLLER FOR SINGLE AND THREE PHASE ALTERNATING CURRENT MOTORS
 (57) A torque controller is temporarily employed to reduce load and torque in the power train of the motor during start-up and stopping. The device minimizes both mechanical and electro-dynamic stresses, thus improving durability of the attached power cables and electrical network hence extending the system's life span. The device is suitable for 3-phase control systems since it reduces torque by temporarily minimizing the voltage and current input. It employs semiconductors switching (thyristors) to control current flow and components as well as voltage applied to the motor. This is achieved by connecting the thyristors in a front-to-back loop. The device conserves power, protects the motor against electrical surges and is thus useful in circumstances where high electrical energy is utilized

3. Patent Cooperation Treaty

The Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) is an international patent protection treaty consisting of over 140 member states. PCT is administered by the World Intellectual Property Organization in Geneva Switzerland. PCT makes it possible for an applicant to seek patent protection for an invention simultaneously in any of the selected member states by filing one application. PCT is a filing system and does not grant patents on behalf of the member states. Applications must enter national phase in the selected member states. In the national phase, the applicant is required to pay the prescribed national fees in the said member states.

Further, in some member states, a foreign applicant is required to have a resident agent. The PCT fees as of 1st May 2011 are as follows:

Type of fee	Fee		Fee waivers
International filing fee	USD 1, 367 or CHF 1330		90% waiver for a natural person from Kenya
