(74) Agent:

VIKIL (HOCL) solution is manufactured under an advanced production technology which has an enhanced efficacy in the form of prolonged protection to surface, agriculture and mitigation of pathogens. This is based on its stable PH range of 5 - 7. VIKIL Hypochlorous Acid (HOCL) is a scientifically formulated Hypochlorous Acid (HOCL) solution that is completely safe, non-toxic, non-corrosive, non-dehydrating and anti-pathogenic. The active ingredient, HOCL, is naturally in one's white blood cells, as the first line of defense against bacteria, fungi, spores, viruses, biofilms and other pathogenic micro-organisms. Vikil is completely safe for application on plants and animals while posing no threat to animals/humans that may come into contact. HOCL is broken down when it comes into contact with any organic material and is therefore 100% biodegradable. VIKIL is suitable for use in multiple pre- and post-harvest applications. Plant irrigation using Vikil HOCL Solution has been successful for mitigation of pathogens as well as showing antibacterial effects against pathogens. Additionally, it has the capability to be used as an agent for the mitigation of plant disease as well. Several plant diseases like wilt and blights have been mitigated successfully so far using this product in recent field studies. The technology fits well to be used for seed germination, product improvement, production of flowers and foliage, and yield increase.

(51) Int.Cl.2016.01: E 21B 47/02, E 21B 25/16

(57) Abstract: Orientation data representing a required orientation of a core sample held in a core tube 22, 50 prior to separation of the core sample 24, 52 from the underlying rock can be recorded by a data gathering device 42, 80 at least while drilling is ceased and closest to time Tx, where Tx can be greater than, less than or equal to T-t, where T is the time recorded by the data gathering device 42, 80 and t is the recorded elapsed time commenced and recorded by a communication device 60 at the surface. Elapsed time t commences at the surface when drilling ceases and preferably before the core is to be broken from the underlying rock. For regular time intervals I between orientation data measurements, there can be a time delay W from commencing the elapsed time t. This time delay should be at least as long as (I) a time interval between taking orientation measurements plus the time to actually measure an orientation. After the delay W has elapsed, the core can be broken from the underlying rock. The data gathering device 42, 80 is interrogated at the surface by the communication device 60, and at the same time both timers are stopped or their individual times associated with each other (survey time T and elapsed time t). Target recorded orientation data Tx can be identified as the largest Tx value < T-(t-W) i.e. the oldest Tx in time from commencement of T after taking the mark and before or by the end of the delay W time. Alternatively, for elapsed time t commenced at the end of the delay period W from taking the mark, the recorded orientation data can be identified as the smallest Tx value > T-(t+W) or the largest Tx value < T-t.

(57) The SME Growth Index (herein referred as SGI Index), is a 14-dimensional index which measures multiple factors alongside other relevant factors to determine and classify SMEs in Kenya. The implementation of a reliable SME index remains one of the significant efforts by the Kenyan government to improve measures in promoting growth in line with the recent policy for stimulating growth within SMEs sectors. Also, the data analysis by Prefix Research discovered 14 indicators of multidimensional growth from eight selected theories of SME growth dimensions encompassing Institutional theory (IT), Resource-Based view Theory (RBVT), Diffusion of Innovation (DOL) Theory, Stakeholders Theory (ST), Contingency Theory (CT), Dynamic Capabilities Theory (DCT), Upper Echelons Theory (UET) and the Strategic Management Theories (SMT). Finally, the study proposed nine indicators to be added to the current SME index to establish a more meaningful scenario of the current SME growth trend in Kenya.

12.4 Removals

Section 23 of the Trade Marks Act provides that registration of a trade mark in Kenya shall expire after a period of ten (10) years. The Act also provides that the proprietor of a registered trade mark may make an application for renewal of the trade mark upon completion of the prescribed Form TM 10 and payment of the prescribed renewal fee.

Rule 65 of the Trade Mark Rules provides that where no application for renewal of a registered trade mark is received upon expiry of the ten year period, the Registrar of Trade Marks shall notify the proprietor of this fact. Where no application for renewal of the registered trade mark is received within a period of sixty (60) days from the date of the notice for renewal by the Registrar, rule 67 of the Trade Mark Rules requires the Registrar of Trade Marks to publish this fact.

In accordance with the above provisions, the Registrar of Trade Marks hereby notifies the public that the proprietors of the trade marks indicated below were duly notified and that they did not file applications for renewal of their respective trade marks.

In accordance with the provisions of rules 67 and 68 of the Trade Mark Rules, the public is hereby notified as follows:

- (a) Where the proprietor of a registered trade mark makes an application for renewal of a mark that has been published herein and pays the renewal fee together with the additional prescribed late renewal fee within thirty (30) days from the date of this publication, the trade mark shall be renewed and shall not be removed from the Register of Trade Marks;
- (b) Where no application for renewal of a trade mark published herein is received within thirty (30) days from the date of this publication, the trade mark shall be forthwith removed from the Register of Trade Marks; and

Once the trade mark is removed from the Register of Trade Marks, the proprietor may thereafter make an application for renewal of the mark upon payment of the prescribed renewal fee together with the additional prescribed restoration fee. The trade mark shall then be restored to the Register of Trade Marks upon the Registrar of Trade Marks being satisfied that it is just to do so and upon imposing such conditions as the Registrar may deem fit.
