(51) Int.Cl.2016.01: B 01D 47/00, B 01D 53/14, B 01D 53/92, B 03C 5/00

(57) Abstract: The present invention relates to an advanced system for the removal of air pollutants from combustion and non-combustion processes that generate air pollutants that are regulated by environmental agencies. The pollutants include, but are not limited to, particulate matter; acid gases including sulphur dioxide, hydrogen chloride and hydrogen fluoride; metals such as mercury, dioxins, VOCs and reagents such as ammonia. The system collects and processes the polluted gas stream through two forms of wet method scrubbing technology. The gas is first passed through a wet scrubbing reactor capable of complete interaction between the gas and the selected liquid scrubbing reagent at one or more interfaces. The scrubbing medium is selected for its reactivity with the pollutants targeted in the process, its cost and impact on the environment. From the exit of the scrubbing reactor the gas is directed through a wet electrostatic precipitator to remove the remaining targeted pollutants to very high removal efficiency.

(57) Abstract: The present invention provides an intrinsically anti-microbial hollow fiber membrane for filtration of liquids. The membrane comprises a plurality of porous hollow bilayer membrane fibers wherein the liquid enters from outside of the fiber, passing through the porous membrane into the lumen of the fiber and coming out from the hollow ending of the fiber, wherein this configuration provides a liquid outside-in arrangement and retains the filtrate outside. It means that membrane of the invention has built in characteristics to act against microbes in order to provide the use with a safe liquid free from microbes. The outer side or outer wall of the hollow fibers may be configured to become hydrophobic whereas inner side or inner wall of the hollow fiber membrane may be configured to become hydrophilic to enhance the water permeability to a great extent. The hollow fiber membrane may be configured to give it an intrinsic anti-microbial capability. A device containing above said membrane has also been disclosed.

(51) Int.Cl. 2016.01: A 61B 5/103

(57) Abstract: The invention relates to diagnosis in general and more specifically a system and a method for determining the presence of jaundice in newborn babies, also known as neonatal jaundice. A main objective of the present invention is to provide a simple system and method for determining the presence of jaundice. Particularly since most deaths due to jaundice occur in low-income countries, there is a large unmet need of simple, reliable and affordable technologies able to identify at-risk newborn. The objective is accomplished through receiving a depiction of skin from an RGB sensor, and then using either an optical diffusion model of the skin or Monte Carlo simulations to calculate the bilirubin concentration. A meta model of the optical diffusion model or Monte Carlo simulations can also be used. Colour calibration is also performed by e.g. thin-plate spline interpolation.

(57) Abstract: A gas system includes a container, a fitting, a gas tube, adsorbent, and a filter. The container stores gas under pressure. The fitting covers an opening of the container and maintains a seal with the opening of the container. The gas tube is inserted through a bore in the fitting such that a length of a portion of the gas tube inside of the container is at least one half of a length of the container. The portion of the gas tube in the container includes holes. The adsorbent is in a particulate form and adsorbs gas in the container. The filter covers the holes in the portion of the gas tube in the container. The filter permits passage of gas into and out of the gas tube and prevents passage of the adsorbent into the gas tube.

The targeting peptide generates a specific association with mosquitoes by causing the fused toxin peptide to bind mosquitoes in a way that leads to the insecticidal activity. Transgenic plants described herein are mosquitocidal by expressing an insecticidal toxin protein in nectar that includes a targeting peptide to ensure specificity against mosquitoes. These transgenic plants serve as role models for safety, since they are non-crop plants and specific to one mosquito species.

(54) MACADAMIA AVOCADO COFFEE BEVERAGE

Macadamia Avocado Coffee Beverage is a beverage composed of a mixture of coffee and avocado seed powders or granules, and ground macadamia nuts, designed to extend the nutrition and tastes of avocado seeds and macadamia nuts into coffee drinks, in a single serving. Additives may be included to increase its appeal to consumers. In common practice, coffee is packaged as a lone product which contains insignificant amounts of macro nutrients. Blending it with macadamia and avocado seeds not only adds the missing macro nutrients to the coffee cup, but it also improves tastes and increases the micro nutrient content as well, minimizing the need for consumers to add milk and sugar. This increases the health benefit of consuming coffee while creating an alternative market for macadamia and avocado farmers. Consumers prepare the beverage in a manner similar to preparation of granulated coffee.

12.4 Removals

Section 23 of the Trade Marks Act provides that registration of a trade mark in Kenya shall expire after a period of ten (10) years. The Act also provides that the proprietor of a registered trade mark may make an application for renewal of the trade mark upon completion of the prescribed Form TM 10 and payment of the prescribed renewal fee.

Rule 65 of the Trade Mark Rules provides that where no application for renewal of a registered trade mark is received upon expiry of the ten year period, the Registrar of Trade Marks shall notify the proprietor of this fact. Where no application for renewal of the registered trade mark is received within a period of sixty (60) days from the date of the notice for renewal by the Registrar, rule 67 of the Trade Mark Rules requires the Registrar of Trade Marks to publish this fact.

In accordance with the above provisions, the Registrar of Trade Marks hereby notifies the public that the proprietors of the trade marks indicated below were duly notified and that they did not file applications for renewal of their respective trade marks.

In accordance with the provisions of rules 67 and 68 of the Trade Mark Rules, the public is hereby notified as follows:

- (a) Where the proprietor of a registered trade mark makes an application for renewal of a mark that has been published herein and pays the renewal fee together with the additional prescribed late renewal fee within thirty (30) days from the date of this publication, the trade mark shall be renewed and shall not be removed from the Register of Trade Marks;

- (b) Where no application for renewal of a trade mark published herein is received within thirty (30) days from the date of this publication, the trade mark shall be forthwith removed from the Register of Trade Marks; and

Once the trade mark is removed from the Register of Trade Marks, the proprietor may thereafter make an application for renewal of the mark upon payment of the prescribed renewal fee together with the additional prescribed restoration fee. The trade mark shall then be restored to the Register of Trade Marks upon the Registrar of Trade Marks being satisfied that it is just to do so and upon imposing such conditions as the Registrar may deem fit.
